January 2017

From the Editor

The third SCRC Pearl Harbor Event went well despite being rescheduled a week late. The weather was cold and windy but we still had 33 pilots show up and fly. The day calmed down and warmed up a bit and the homemade chili served at lunch was a hit and well deserved. Thanks to all members that showed up to take part in this free event. We were able to collect enough donations to cover the lunch and snack expenses.

2017 looks to be a busy year as well as the AMA Event Calendar is filling up fast. Many new local events are showing up as well to keep things interesting. Let's hope the weather cooperates better this year than 2016. Be sure to send me pics and tell us about your winter building projects! Paul
